A Twenty-Year Lease.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Secretary Windom has directed that a lease be made with the North American Commercial Company of New York and San Francisco, J. Liebes, President, for the exclusive privilege of taking fur seals upon the islands of St. Paul and St. George, Alaska, for twenty years from May 1st.

This company made three proposals for the privilege, and the one accepted by the Secretary is known as bid number 11 and differs from the other two in being an offer without conditions. Among other things, the company agrees, as far as may be practicable, to encourage the dressing, dyeing and marketing of sealskins within the United States. The annual revenue to the Government under the lease, on the basis of one hundred thousand seals per annum, will be about a million dollars, as against three hundred thousand under the present lease to the Alaska Commercial Co.

Following are the names of the directors: Lloyd Tevis, Henry Cowell, Mathias Meyer and Isaac Liebes, all of San Francisco. Albert Miller of Oakland, Cal., and David O. Mills of New York are said to be members of the company. The capital stock is $2,000,000.

A Libel Suit.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The trial of the action for libel of Dr. Sir Morell McKenzie against the St. James Gazette, for publishing disparaging articles connected with his treatment of the late Emperor Frederick of Germany, commenced to-day.

The trial was concluded this afternoon, and the jury awarded Mackenzie £1,500 damages.

Dr. Mackenzie had a similar suit against the London Times, and the jury in that case awarded him £1,500 damages.

Unanimously Bounced.

SHAMOKIN (Pa.), Feb. 28.—The scenes of yesterday were repeated to-day at the session of the Evangelical Conference.

After a period of intense excitement and turmoil, a resolution declaring Bishop Escher an improper person to preside over the Convention was carried unanimously.

The Bishop protested, and the Conference went into secret session to consider the charges preferred against the minister.

Stanford in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Senator Leonard Stanford was in this city yesterday consulting with his associates in the Central Pacific, regarding the funding bill before Congress. It is understood that the Union Pacific will accept the terms proposed for it, but C. P. Huntington says the Central Pacific is not fairly treated in the bill.

Pay by the Hour and Piece

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—The granite firms of New England, in secret session, have formed an organization, and have decided after May 1st to pay by the hour and by the piece. They say the business will not permit the increase of wages asked by the workmen.

A Brute Lynched.

ATHENS (Ga.), Feb. 28.—Joe Brown, a Washington negro, who raped and murdered a 9-year-old niece of Alfred Horton, confessed the crime before the Coroner's Jury yesterday, and last night he was taken from the jail by a mob and lynched.

Investigation Ordered.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 28.—The Government has ordered a strict investigation regarding counterfeiting American coin in Guaymas.

Slightly Improved.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Master Abraham Lincoln, passed a very fair night. His condition this morning is a shade improved.

Shot Through the Head.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In the corridor of the House this afternoon ex-Congressman Taulbee was shot through the head by Charles Kincaid, a correspondent of the Louisville Times.

The wounded man came from one of the mountain districts of Kentucky, was 39 years old, tall, sinewy and strong but lean. He soon became known in the House as a ready talker, and was more frequently on his feet than any other young member. He had an immensely powerful voice, and in the tumult which sometimes occurred in the House, could always be heard above the din. He was a member of the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses. He has been taken to the hospital, as his wound is dangerous. Kincaid was arrested.

Both are Kentuckians. The trouble was caused by the ex-Congressman pulling the correspondent's nose for publishing certain statements in regard to him.

The shooting occurred outside of the Capitol, near the southeastern entrance to the building. Taulbee was shot in the head, but it is not known how seriously he is wounded.

Kincaid is slight built, inoffensive looking and 35 years old. He was formerly a judge of one of the Louisville courts, and his family is one of the best known in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.), Feb. 28.—There has been a long standing ill feeling between Kincaid and Taulbee without a definite cause. It is generally known that this was aggravated two years ago by Kincaid sending the Louisville Times, for which he was a correspondent, an account of unbecoming conduct between Taulbee and a female clerk in the Patent office.

Kincaid had sent in his card to see a member and was waiting by the door when Taulbee came out, and they met for the first time since Kincaid sent to his paper the story of the notorious scandal about Mr. Taulbee. The latter walked up to Kincaid and spoke in a low tone the words, "It's a lie."

Taulbee grasped Kincaid by the collar and demanded that he come out in the corridor. Kincaid said he was unarmed, and not in condition for a physical contest with his burly antagonist, and they were separated by friends.

Half an hour later Taulbee came out of the house and was descending the dark marble stairway near the restaurant, when he met Kincaid. The latter turned, followed and tapped him on the shoulder, and as he faced about, shot him without a word of warning.

The bullet entered the right side of the right eye and Taulbee staggered down the stairs. He was removed to a committee room and a physician called. Kincaid made no effort to escape and freely acknowledged the shooting.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—After reading the journal the House went into Committee of the Whole on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill.

After a discussion lasting three and a half hours, the committee arose and the bill was passed. It appropriates $23,650,000, the largest item being $21,600,000 for the pensioners of the War of 1812 and the Mexican War.

It is estimated that the decrease of the public debt during February will be $3,500,000.

SENATE.

After a number of petitions had been presented a note from Vice-President Morton was received, which stated that he was about to leave Washington for an absence of two weeks.

Ingalls was elected Vice-President pro tem, and immediately took the oath.

Blair made an attack upon the Associated Press for not reporting more fully his speeches.

Hawley defended the Associated Press, and stated that organization had done its whole duty, intimating that it was the fault of the Senator's speeches that he was not reported more fully.

Blair replied, and was quite entertaining.

Sewall, nominated for Consul-General to Apia, has been confirmed by the Senate.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

Bar silver 95 3/4.

At Hallock, Nev., this morning the thermometer stood at 60° below zero. This morning a number of persons interested in a postal telegraph assembly in Washington to listen to Norvin Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who, in an elaborate argument, tried to convince Postmaster-General Wainwright and assistants, the Attorney-General and others, that the service of the Western Union Company is as low as it can be made, unless at a loss.

Declared Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Danny Needham and Patsy Kerrigan fought one hundred rounds at the California Athletic Club last night, when the referee declared the fight off and stated that the amount of the purse which would be awarded the men would be fixed later. He said he had examined the hands of both men and had found that they were in such condition that they could not continue the fight.

It was 3:15 this morning when the fight closed, after lasting six hours and forty minutes. The fight was a walk-around from the start, and there were no more than half a dozen rounds in which the men attempted to force matters. Needham was knocked down three times in the fifty-fifth round and four times in the seventieth, but he arose and fought desperately during both rounds. After the seventh round there was little or no attempt at real fighting, as both men were greatly exhausted, and during the last ten rounds not a blow was struck.

Wife-Murderer Hanged.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 28.—Richard Hawes, the wife-murderer, was hanged at 12:20 to-day. His neck was broken. He stated on the gallows that John Wyley did the killing and was paid $200 by him for his services.

The crime for which Hawes paid the penalty was for the murder of his wife and two children, May and Irene, so that he might marry again. He weighted the bodies with railroad iron and sank them in a lake. Hawes was arrested while passing through Birmingham with his new wife, after the three bodies were discovered. An infuriated mob of ten thousand people stormed the jail to lynch him, but Sheriff House defended the jail and killed five of the mob, wounding many more.

A Cold Storm.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 28.—The dispatches received from various cities in Texas report that the severest norther of the season prevailed in that State yesterday. Rain, sleet and snow fell over a large part of the State, and the mercury sank below freezing point in a great many places. The fruit crop is badly damaged and the early vegetables are destroyed.

The same cold wave passed over Arkansas, and reports say that in that State much damage has been done to fruit and vegetables.

Program Issued.

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—The official program of the subjects to be considered by the International Labor Conference is issued. It refers to the regulation of mine work in reference to the prohibition of the labor of women and children under ground; the shortening of shifts in unhealthy mines; insuring a regular output of coal by subjecting the working of the mines to international rules; and the regulation of Sunday labor and the labor of women and children.

The Raging Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28.—The most cheerful indication that the present flood in the Ohio river has almost reached its limit, is colder weather and the appearance of snow this morning. As a set-off against that, reports from up the river show that from Wheeling to Cincinnati, the river is everywhere rising.

Suicide of a Supposed Murderer

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—A correspondent from Manville states that a man answering the description of Eyraud, the Frenchman wanted for the murder of Wouffe, the Parisian bailiff, has committed suicide there.

A Long Ride.

A Cossack officer named Prevotoff is taking a horseback ride from Bielovetchensk, on the river Amoor, in Eastern Siberia, to St. Petersburg, a distance of 5,300 miles. He goes quite alone on an ordinary "vaikry" horse and carrying his provisions with him. He started in November, and when last seen by a party of merchants near Irkutsk, was in good health and spirits, and had made about a quarter of the distance. He expects to reach St. Petersburg in April. It will be the longest ride on record.

Mrs. Maybrick's Friends at Work.

Unknown to the public, a large amount of work is being slowly but surely carried out, having for its object the attainment of the release and the free pardon of the convict Mrs. Maybrick. The new evidence which has so far been collected is stated to be of the most important character.

Vagaries of Memory.

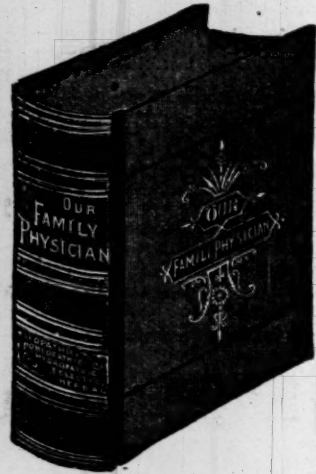

An article by Prof. H. C. Wood in the March Century, contains the following: "When disease affects the brain these alterations of word-memory are something very strange. In the most complete form of this so-called aphasia the person cannot understand words, he cannot think in words, and cannot talk words. Usually, however, words are remembered sufficiently to be recognized when heard or seen, but although the idea is there, the person cannot speak in words. I recall the case of an old German woman who had aphasia. When asked how old she was, she would indicate sixty with her fingers. If asked how many children she had had, she would indicate seven. If two of the fingers were turned down she would get angry and insist upon the seven. She was able to understand questions. She knew what the figure '7' meant, but had not the power to say the word 'seven.' It is a very curious fact that in these forms of aphasia the language of the emotions may be preserved while the language of the intellect is destroyed. Very often a profane man, when he has aphasia, is able to swear. This German woman, when excited, could say 'Gott in Himmel!' Besides this there was left to her but one little fragment of each of the two languages which she had known. She could not say the English 'no' but could say the German 'nein'; she could not say the German 'yah,' but could splutter out the English 'yes.' The forms of aphasia known as word-blindness and word-deafness are very strange. The sufferer from word-blindness can write and will understand what is said to him; but hand him a book, a newspaper or even the letter he himself has written, and he cannot read a word. Thus an active man of business having written a letter, giving directions for an important matter, attempted to read it, in order to see if it was correct, but was astonished to find that he could not make out a single word; he had been suddenly stricken with word-blindness. The sounds of the words and the words themselves had remained to him, but the recollection of the written forms of the words was gone. In a case of word deafness the person can talk and can write, but although his hearing is perfect he cannot recognize the spoken words. The sound of the voice is plain to his sense, but conveys no thought to him. The records of the past—the unconscious memory, so to speak—exist in the brain; but for conscious recognition these must be dragged out before the consciousness. It is doubtful whether there is such a thing as a bad memory, i.e., as a badly kept brain record. The difference in individuals as to the power of recollecting probably consists in the relation between consciousness and memory. One man has the power of going into the library in his brain and picking up at once the leaf he wants, and glories in his good memory. Another cannot in a moment find what he desires, but when the floods of disease come, then spontaneously float up those things which he had thought were gone forever."

LONGSTREET AND MOSBY.

The Lion and Falcon of General Lee's Army.

The Atlanta (Ga.) National says: The one was called the "Lion" and the other the "Falcon," of the army of Northern Virginia. In the recent celebration of General R. E. Lee's birthday in Atlanta, above the speaker's stand were pictures of Lee, Davis and his Cabinet, Gordon, Grady, and other lesser lights, both of the living and departed. General Longstreet's portrait was conspicuous by its absence. Senator John W. Daniel, has delivered two eloquent orations, one on the second battle of Manassas and the other on Jefferson Davis. In both he seemed studiously to take pains to omit any reference to Longstreet or Mosby, although beslobbering with fulsome flattery other men of much less exhibited sectionalism. Suppose for an instant they are making history, or rather, destroying or reversing history already made? Is not the "animus of the animal" perfectly patent in this silly and vain attempt to obscure two great men of impeachable military renown? Great military chiefs whose fame will live and grow and brighten with posterity, when the little "whisper-snappers" of to-day are dead, buried and forgotten. Is it to "make treason odious" that Longstreet and Mosby are thus given the "cold shoulder"? It is to make them pay the penalty of friendship to General U. S. Grant and fealty to the Republican party.

These Are the Books

We Are Giving Away.

This book contains 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

It is different from all other works ever published. First—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when a person gets sick. All similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this.

Second—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent physician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment.

Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES THE PRESCRIPTIONS ARE MADE BY THE MOST EMINENT MEN in their respective modes of practice. This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

No other Book Published does this.

TESTIMONIALS:

Having examined the advance sheets of the work entitled "Our Family Physician," I can say that it is accurate in its descriptions of diseases and reliable in its therapeutic department.

H. F. COOK, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice, Hahnemann Medical College.

I have examined the advance sheets of "Our Family Physician." It gives me pleasure to recommend the work as correct in its mode of treatment of disease, and it deserves wide circulation.

J. E. COOK, M. D., Professor in Burnett's Medical College, Chicago.

After examining the publication "Our Family Physician" I can fully endorse the opinions expressed of its merits by the above gentlemen. R. A. GUNN, M. D., Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

I hereby certify that I have examined a work entitled "Our Family Physician," and find it to be correct in its diagnosis, and in my opinion, worthy of the confidence of the public. H. S. HAN, M. D.

The Louisiana Lottery concern is now attempting bribery of the Louisiana Legislature, and fears are entertained that it will succeed. It is making $8,000,000 a year, and proposes out of its earnings to pay the entire State debt, if its charter is renewed. The Record Union says: If there appears a prospect of this bid for life succeeding, the Federal Government should at least enact new and stringent laws to prevent the use of the mails by the concern, or the transmission of matter by any agency using Government stamps, and should inhibit National banks from acting in behalf of the gamblers, and so far as Congress can do so under the Constitution, cripple the concern and all of its order.

DURING 1889, English capital to the amount of $205,505,000, is said to have been invested in American industrial plants.

Peculiar

In Combination, Proportion, and Process of preparation, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Other medicines require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as

Hood's Sarsaparilla. Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has attained such popularity in so short a time. It is Peculiar to Itself.

Peculiar in the originality and effectiveness of its advertising, its methods are continually being copied by competitors. Peculiar in the way it wins the people's confidence, one bottle always sells another.

J. J. Becker's Chicago saloon is where you can find a daily hot lunch, served in regular restaurant style, which with a big glass of beer costs only 12 1/2 cents.

A Surgeon Censured.

Mrs. William L. Bradley, wife of one of the leading capitalists of Dubuque, Iowa, tripped on a door-mat coming out of a neighbor's house and fell heavily to the pavement. Her right arm was broken by the fall. Dr. Horr was summoned and administered chloroform preparatory to joining the broken member. Mrs. Bradley fainted and expired a few moments later. The doctor is strongly censured. He claims the death of Mrs. Bradley was due to the slipping of a tooth plate from her mouth into her throat.

Put on the Brakes.

If you find you are going down the hill in point of health. Falling strength, impaired digestion and assimilation are the marks of decline. Check these and other indications of premature decay with the grand vitalizer and restraining tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Regulating at the fountain head, the stomach, the Bitters remedies its art, efficiency, corrects its errors, and sets it vigorously at work. The digestive organ is thus enabled to thoroughly separate from the food its nutritive principles, which the blood assimilating is enriched. Thus is the system nourished and health is strengthened and abnormal waste of its tissues stayed. Appetite, the power to rest well and regular habit are also re-established, and the various functions move once more in their natural and healthful groove. The Bitters, moreover, is specific for and preventive of malarial complaints, rheumatism, biliousness and kidney trouble.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, she bought a bottle and to her delight it found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. F. Fininger's Drug Store, large bottles 50c and $1.00.

San Francisco Meat Market.

Beef is a shade firmer, while other descriptions show a steady tone. Following are the rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers: BEEF—First quality, 60¢/cwt; second quality, 55¢/cwt; third quality, 45¢/cwt. LAMB—Quotable at 45¢/cwt for large and 40¢/cwt for small. MUTTON—Quotable at 45¢/cwt. LAMB—Quotable at 50¢/cwt. DO, Spring, 120¢/cwt. LIVE HOGS, on foot, grain fed, heavy, 45¢/cwt; light, 35¢/cwt; dressed hogs, 50¢/cwt.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for had been feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find the Electric Bitters to be the best liver and kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Wm. Fininger's drug store."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Wm. Fininger, druggist.

WEDDING BELLS.

The Marriage of Miss Nettie Winters and J. Meredith Gregory.

FAST-FLYING SPECIAL FROM RENO.

A Merry Throng—The Happy Couple Start on the Voyage of Life With the Brightest Prospects.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Nettie M. Winters and J. Meredith Gregory was followed early in the week by invitations from her parents to the wedding ceremony. The fortunate recipients of these desirable bits of cardboard have for a week past been filled with the liveliest anticipations of the event, which took place at 5 o'clock last evening at the Winters mansion, at the foot of the mountain skirting the western edge of Washoe valley, many of whose broad acres are counted among the POSSESSIONS OF MR. WINTERS, who came to this State in 1857, and chose for his home this lovely spot, to which he afterwards brought his wife, and where they have since lived and raised their family of five daughters and two sons.

For many years Theodore Winters has been counted among Nevada's most prominent and influential citizens and has been identified with every movement tending to the development of the best interests of the community in which he lives. His energetic public spirit and good judgment have done much to promote the well-being of the battle-born State. His ranch is the largest and finest in the valley, and his

CATTLE AND SHEEP.

Roam on a thousand hills, while the fame of his fine horses is world-wide. A detailed account of Mr. Winters is almost superfluous, as he is nearly as well known the length and breadth of the Pacific coast as in the immediate vicinity of his home, but of the female members of his family probably not so much is known, as they are exceedingly domestic and home-loving, seeming to find the greatest pleasure and satisfaction at their own fireside, where they spend the greater part of the year. The young ladies, of whom Mrs. Gregory was the eldest, received LIBERAL EDUCATIONS.

With the advantages of travel, and their accomplishments as are numerous as they are varied, which only makes their devotion to home the more noticeable. Though her cheerful personality will be greatly missed from the little circle, the other members of the household betrayed no signs of regret or sadness at giving her to the new life, which, it is expected, will bring her great happiness. The sun, which crept from under the clouds and shone so brightly yesterday, certainly augurs good fortune for the future, if there is any truth in the saying that: "Blest is the bride that the sun shines upon."

THE GROOM.

J. Meredith Greger was born in the year 1858, and is a member of the well-known firm of J. M. Gregory & Bro., commission merchants and grain dealers of No. 210 California street, San Francisco, and is a man of much ability, whose reputation in business is already established. Mr. and Mrs. Winters were determined that nothing should be lacking that would afford comfort or pleasure to their guests on such an occasion, and in his generosity provided a SPECIAL TRAIN.

For the accommodation of such as were to attend from Reno. The merry whistle of the locomotive announced the arrival of the train bringing a host of expectant people to the scene of "merriment and jest." At Washoe station Mr. Winters met them with cutters to carry them to his residence. They found the interior of the large mansion decorated with smiles, maiden-hair ferns and choice cut flowers in the greatest profusion. Promptly at 5 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlors and took their places under a beautiful marriage bell of national flowers, hung in an archway of cut flowers, when the solemnly beautiful wedding service of the Episcopal Church was performed by the Rev. George R. Davis of Carson, in his most impressive manner, after which

CONGRATULATIONS AND COMPLEMENTARY.

Wishes for the future were tendered the happy young couple. The half hour that followed before supper was announced was spent in inspecting the large number of presents, sent by friends from near and far, when the company repaired to the spacious dining-room, ablaze with lights reflected glass and polished silver. The dining-room was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and the table pieces were very beautiful. The table groaned under its load of good things, to which the guests did ample justice. The wisest good humor prevailed and many pleasant

TOASTS WERE DRANK.

To Mr. Gregory and his bride in the sparkling champagne, which flowed most generously. There is no telling how long the gaiety and mirth might have continued had not the steady old clock on the mantel ticked out the hour for the train which was to carry the new "man and wife" to their home in the flowery land on the other side of the snow-covered Sierras, which made necessary a hurried donning of robes, more hurried congratulations and a swift ride to the "switch."

The happy couple were accompanied as far as Reno by the guests from here, who wished them a final God-speed as they boarded the San Francisco train. They will make their home at 711 Jones street, and will give a reception to their friends on the 7th of March.

THE BRIDE'S COSTUME.
Was a superb toilette of white silk tissue over ivory whiteness, the bodice cut square and handsomely trimmed with rich lace, a corsage bouquet of white lilies, and diamond ornaments. Miss Nellie Winters, who acted as bridesmaid, wore a very pretty white albatross gown, with an exquisite combination of apple-blossom silk and white lace in the bodice decorations. She also wore diamond ornaments. Many handsome toilettes were worn by the guests, but space will not permit a description of all.

Local and General Intelligence.

The Republican reports say at Truckee to be selling for about $25 per ton.
Judge Rising's decision in the case of Allen C. Bragg vs. The State of Nevada, for printing, has been reversed by the Supreme Court.
University Regent George, who arrived last evening from Central Nevada, reports an unprecedented loss of stock in that part of the State.
The Union Pacific snow-plow, which passed west some time ago, was started back yesterday, the Union Pacific people having use for it.
Marcus Fredrick's Commercial Row store is where you can find all the best brands of both smoking and chewing tobacco, cigars and cigarettes.
By the breaking of his belt while parading at Salt Lake recently, General Connor's sword, which was presented to him by the people of Stockton, Cal., and which cost $500, fell to the ground and was stepped upon by his horse and ruined. The scabbard was decorated with gems, and was a very choice one.
That tired feeling, so subtle and yet so overpowering, is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which tones and strengthens the system and gives a good appetite. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla. "100 doses one dollar" is true only of this peculiar medicine.

PERSONAL.

State Treasurer Tuffy and daughter, Mrs. Parrott, went below on last evening's express.
Hon. H. T. Crosswell, for many years a resident of Lander county, was married in San Francisco on the 15th inst. to Miss L. C. Thornton.
Messrs. Baker and Wines left to-day for Eureka, where they go to take charge of the defense in a murder trial. Dr. Thoma also went as a witness in the same case.
Temperature at Winnemucca.
The Silver State of the 27th inst. says: Last night was next the coldest of the year, the mercury at the signal office sinking to 22° below zero. This is almost unprecedented here at this or any other time of the year, and, although the atmosphere was calm, it had a very chilling effect, and must necessarily have been very severe on poor cattle. The bold were come from the southwest, and the wind last evening was from that quarter, though it took a shift in the night to the northeast.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winkler's Sorethroat Syrup should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. For sale by Wm. Fininger, druggist.

Publication of Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to D. S. Hickman, greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Nona S. Hickman as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days, if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or adjournment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover against you a judgment and decree of divorce on the complaint of the plaintiff herein, in which complaint she alleges that you and she were united in marriage at Reno, in the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, January 2, 1888; that you and plaintiff have not lived or cohabitated as husband and wife since about August 30, 1888; that you have not at any time since said marriage contributed to her support; that you went away from Reno, Nevada, about the first of November, 1888; that you abandoned plaintiff about August 30, aforesaid, and have not since said August 30, aforesaid, recognized her as your wife; that she charges against you abandonment and failure to support her and a failure to provide for her the comfort and necessities of life for more than one year preceding her complaint made and filed, which failure to support and provide for her is the result of poverty that could not have been avoided by you by ordinary industry. She claims against you the custody of your minor child, on the ground that you are incompetent to care for him or to have dominion over him, all of which will more fully appear in the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred.

And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded and for costs of suit.

In testimony whereof, I, William Webster, have hereunto set my hand this 21st day of January, A. D. 1890.

WILLIAM WEBSTER,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

NEW BURIAL SCHEME.

Our Bodies to Be Dried and Put Away in Vaults.

Dislocation the Latest Fad of Enthusiasts—Some Respects in Which It Excels Cremation—Provisions Against Premature Interment.

A new disposition of the dead as proposed may be called the "latest thing in life." Ground for a "new mausoleum" is to be broken. It is said by the New York Sun, in the spring. The idea underlying the new mausoleum is based on the fact that a current of dry air will preserve a body from decomposition, and change it into a condition resembling life, in which it will remain for an indefinite time. This process is applied by nature to the unfortunate traveler and his beast who succumb upon the great deserts. In the Smithsonian Institution are many bodies thus desiccated by nature which have been brought from the battlefields of Mexico and Indian districts of the far West. The ancient Colchians and Tartars suspended their dead from branches of trees to be dried by air and sun. The Peruvians first dried their deceased friends, and then buried them in a sitting posture. Savages of South Australia place the dead body on the top of the hut perfectly dried, when it is bandaged and hidden among the branches of the trees. The body retains its form in the process, and the skin, though it becomes hard and dry like leather, remains white, while the face, though more or less emaciated, remains life-like and recognizable.

Modern science and skill are to be applied to the original preservative power of the atmosphere. Experiments have recently been made by specialists, first on animals and later on human bodies. In the course of one recent experiment conducted by a sanitary engineer in Washington, in nine weeks a pig was reduced in weight from 22 to 7 1/2 pounds, and remained just as plump and round as in life. In a laboratory in this city the body of a man weighing 164 pounds was subjected to the process in 1888, and the effect was marvellous.

The arrangement for the interment of desiccated bodies in the new mausoleum will be similar to that of the drawers in safety deposit vaults, while the interior plan of the building will resemble that of a well-appointed public library, with main corridor and diverging halls leading to different sections. These drawers or sepulchres will be of solid concrete four inches thick without joint or seam, of certain sizes, and arranged in tiers of six on either side of the hallway. The opening into each sepulchre will be provided with two doors, the inner one of glass hermetically sealed as soon as occupied, through which the body may be viewed by those holding the keys; the outside of iron, wrought gold, silver or bronze, decorated and adorned according to the ability and taste of relatives.

For family use there will be separate and distinct compartments of various sizes, with sets or suites of sepulchres adorned as desired and having but a single entrance.

The space that holds the casket will be a cell of concrete permitting neither the escape nor admission of moisture. In the erection of the walls hollow pipes or conduits will be formed over molds, so that no destructible material, as iron or metal, will be needed.

Through these conduits will be made to pour into the hermetically-sealed sepulchres currents of dry air, which, passing rapidly and repeatedly around the body, will extract therefrom every trace of moisture, vapor of fluid and convey it to a huge furnace, where, without possibility of escape, all noxious matter will be destroyed. Gradually the body becomes hard, smooth and dry, with little or no change of appearance, and once done preservation is secured forever.

Provision is to be made against premature interment by the adjustment of electrical appliances to the body, so that the faintest motion will be instantaneously conveyed to the guard by means of alarm signals.

The mausoleum will occupy comparatively little space. A building covering 100 feet square could inclose 10,000 sepulchres, and one that occupied an acre would provide as many resting-places as a cemetery of thirty-five acres.

It is intended that ample and suitable grounds shall surround the building, and that adornment inside and out will be made as perfect as taste and wealth can dictate.

The sepulchres will be numbered and registered as lots in a cemetery, and a fund will be provided for the perpetual care of all treasures of art or nature that may be provided. All records of interment will be kept in the mausoleum. A chapel will be provided for the discharge of the last rites.

The cost of single sepulchres will probably range from $40 to $200, while family compartments will vary from $600 to $40,000. Burial lots in cities range from $400 to $5,000 for space to allow six graves, to which must be added the cost of headstone, monument, statuary, inclosure and care.

Concrete is the material of which it is proposed to build the mausoleum. Research, ancient and modern, establish the quality of this material for impregnability, insublimity and consequent permanence, even an earthquake being powerless to destroy buildings made of it. This substance will no doubt be faced by ornamental materials.

NEWSPAPER FAKES.

A Name Applied to Imaginative Pieces of News.

Many interesting stories could be told by some newspaper writers if they choose as their subject the significant little word "fake."

Years ago, observes the New York Commercial Advertiser, when the "moon hoax" was printed in the Sun, "faking" was known as "hoaxing." As it became more and more common in certain newspapers, particularly during the war, "fake" was called a canard. At last an apparently suitable name has been found for a falsehood clothed in truthful type. Imaginative pieces of news are now called simple "fakes."

Fakes are often killed in their infancy or before they appear in print, to go before the world as genuine news. An instance of this kind occurred recently in the editorial rooms of a morning paper.

It was midnight when a newspaper writer of note hurried into the city department and whispered hurriedly into the ever-ready ear of the night city editor.

"It must be a good beat to be worth $50," said the editor. "What is it?" There was more whispering by the newspaper writer, a low whistle from the editor and a nod of approval. Half an hour later the copy of "an exclusive sensation" lay on his desk and the newspaper writer was hurrying to the counting-room with an order for $50 in cash.

But the story—never appeared, although it had a narrow escape. The plot was laid in Washington, but through one small error the hoax was discovered. While the writer acknowledged the fake he unconsciously exposed it by saying that he "arrived in town without his pocket-book and had to raise money immediately."

WITNESS AND JUDGE.

A Victim of the Law Fined for Giving the Court Good Advice.

An amusing scene was recently enacted in a country court-room in Maine, says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal. The trial justice, a big, pompous official with a voice like a trombone, took it upon himself to examine a witness, a little, withered old man, whose face was as red and wrinkled as a smoked herring.

"What is your name?" asked the justice.

"W'y, 'squire," said the astonished witness, "you know my name as well as I know yourn."

"Never you mind what I know, or what I don't know," was the caution given with magisterial severity. "I ask the question in my official capacity, and you're bound to answer it under oath."

With a contemptuous snort the witness gave his name, and the questioning proceeded.

"Where do you live?"

"Wal, I snum!" ejaculated the old man. "W'y," he continued, appealing to the laughing listeners, "I've lived in this town all my life, and so's he," pointing to the justice, "an' 'gosh, to hear him go on you'd think—"

"Silence!" thundered the irate magistrate. "Answer my question or I'll fine you for contempt of court."

Alarmed by the threat, the witness named his place of residence and the examination went on.

"What is your occupation?"

"Huh?"

"What do you do for a living?"

"Oh, git out, 'squire! Just as if you don't know that I tend gardens in the summer season 'an' saw wood winters!"

"As a private citizen I do know it, but as the court I know nothing about you," explained the perspiring justice.

"Wal, 'squire," remarked the puzzled witness, "if you know somethin' outside the court-room and don't know nothin' in it, you'd better get out an' let somebody try this case that's got hoss sense."

The advice may have been better meant, but it cost the witness ten dollars.

CURIOUS EXPERIMENT.

A Boston Editor Who Declined His Own Manuscript with Thanks.

Speaking of editors, the case of the editor who wants to contribute an article to some other periodical than his own—a magazine, for instance—is a curious one. For the time being he has put himself in the place of a contributor and feels the pangs of a timid author.

The Boston Transcript Listener once knew a newspaper editor who was inspired to write an article of a light and entertaining character suitable for a magazine. He wrote it in his odd moments, and then set to speculating as to whether it had any particular value. It seemed to him that it had, but the reflection that he might be prejudiced in his favor troubled him. He had had precisely the same feeling when some one had brought him an article that he wanted to judge favorably. How was he to get his own impartial judgment of his own article? He thought about it for some time, and finally decided that the only way to get the necessary conditions was to send himself the article through the mail, to receive it without other contributions, and to treat it all the way through as if it were somebody else's.

The plan worked to a charm. The editor wrote a little note to himself to accompany the article, inclosed stamps for a reply or a return of manuscript, and mailed the whole at the post-office. Toward the close of the day, when the editor was near the end of a lot of wearisome communications, and had got himself into the declining mood that comes with fatigue, his article arrived. After he had allowed it to lie around for awhile he broke the seal and read it. Then he took a little slip, wrote on it reflectively, inclosed it with the manuscript in a big envelope, stuck on the stamp, sealed the envelope and put it into the department marked "post-office" in the tin box that hung by the side of his desk. Next morning he received the parcel back and read with breathless interest this note which accompanied the manuscript:

"Unavailable. Too discursive and trivial in its tone. Should have been elaborated with more care. Many passages not needed in the presentation of the idea. Contains promise, however, author is advised to try again."

Time and Its Apportionment.

Whatever other inequalities we may labor under, we all have an equal amount of time, the only question being how to apportion it. One will be indefatigably busy every moment through the day and yet the results may be quite unsatisfactory to himself and to others, because he has worked erratically or from impulse, without foresight or judgment. Another knows what he can do or can not do, and plans his time accordingly. He arranges for needed rest and leisure, he selects his employments in the order of their importance, and lets the rest go without a struggle. He may not accomplish quite so much of certain things in a day as his unmethodical neighbor; but on the scale of a year his achievements will be far more valuable, and on the scale of a lifetime his own health and happiness and that of his family, as well as his usefulness to society, will be immeasurably greater.

The Most Desirable End.

Most people have many things in which they desire to succeed, innocent in themselves except when they interfere with a higher aim and worthier purpose. It is this conflict of aims, this gradation of duties, that makes life often seem so complex and so difficult. The questions come continually before every thoughtful mind: "Is this aim which I set before me the highest I can reach? Is it not merely a desirable end, but the most desirable? Is it likely to lead to still better and worthier purposes, or is it likely to hide them from view?" As we answer these questions to ourselves intelligently and conscientiously, the rightful limits of each will become clear, and our desire to succeed in each will harmonize with those limits. Thus the desire for pleasure will be limited by the desire for health, the care of self by the care for others, the love of money by the love of honor, the effort to please by the effort to do right.—N. Y. Ledger.
